May — 1985

Dear Students:

This has been a special school year. Hopefully, it has been a giant step for each one of you in completing your educational goals and has been filled with profitable study and the pleasure of times with good friends.

In reviewing the year, a number of happenings have helped to make this an extraordinary:

- * the thrill and excitement of being part of a great University experience with "Baby Fae" in an attempt to find a way to make life possible for those with serious heart defects,
- * the excitement of being involved with the election of a new president for our country, and
- * the planning and hopes that are possible with a new University administrative team, and the usual excitement that comes through outstanding campus events such as:

- * the Festival of Nations
- * the opening of the Fine Arts Center
- * a week of spiritual devotion with Bailey Gillespie
- * winning an event in "Almost Anything Goes."

Add to this list the personal experiences that each one of you have had which become so meaningful when the time is spent with a special friend or a small group of close "buddies." Hopefully, these and a host of other memories will go through your mind as you relive the 1984-1985 La Sierra Experience through the pages of VISIONS.

Both of us sincerely trust that this University experience has been an outstanding one for you and we wish you a profitable summer. We do hope to see you again next fall, or at least to follow the successes of you seniors as you continue on into your chosen profession.

Cordially yours,

Norman J. Woods

DEDICATED TO ENLIGHTENMENT

Tony Shepperd

For unrelenting determination and for unequalled dedication to the enlightenment of students in the face of extremely difficult odds, we dedicate this 1984-1985 VISIONS Yearbook to . . . Dr. Ernestina Garbutt-Parales.

Not to the strong is the battle,
Not to the swift is the race . . .

Ecclesiastes 9:11 (paraphrased)

How do I love thee? Let me count my ways. I love thee with the force of tempered steel that holds together all my frail deformities, the power of a mind grown far too strong to over-balance any weakness in my hands. I cannot give thee strength or graceful form but, just for that, my love is twice as great because it seems to thrive in desert soil and flourish in indifference's drought. I love thee with the power of my will, my mind and heart and soul, my everything, and when the spark of this frail form shall fail, then have no doubt that I shall love thee still.

Ernestina Garbutt-Parrales

Thought shall be the harder, heart the keener,

courage the greater,

As our strength fails.

Battle of Maldon (10th century)

If one word could be used to describe Dr. Ernestina Garbutt-Parrales it would have to be Dedication. Dedication is a word that has permeated her life ever since its humble beginnings in the small country of Belize (British Honduras).

Dr. Garbutt learned dedication at an early age being that she was the child of missionaries. But it didn't stop there. She went on not only to complete undergraduate and graduate work in Secretarial Science, but also to complete a Doctoral Degree in Spanish Phonetics at the University of Southern California in 1977.

Students who have been fortunate to have had her as a teacher know that she is dedicated to academics. But that is not the only form of dedication which Dr. Garbutt has. She also possesses a strong, vibrant dedication to life and living it to the fullest extent.

Early in the 1960's Dr. Garbutt contracted a rare disease called Scleroderma. This disease is a degenerative disease which affects the body tissue. But because of her extreme determination this has hardly been able to slow her down.

Among the various activities with which Dr. Garbutt fills her free time are drawing, painting and enjoying her pets. She also finds time to attend Thursday nights at the Dorothy Chandler Pavilion, read and write poetry. But there's also travel.

Dr. Garbutt has travelled extensively to Spain and Europe. While in Spain she teaches at the University of Salamanca and when in Europe she visits her sister in Switzerland.

As one can plainly see Dr. Ernestina Garbutt is an individual truly dedicated to life and living it to the fullest. She is one who won't let anything stop her from achieving all that she is able. So for unsurpassed determination and dedication, we the 1984-85 VISIONS staff dedicate these pages to you . . . Dr. Ernestina Garbutt-Parrales.

Searching . . .
Searching for something . . .
Searching for something we feel to be within our grasp.
Groping . . .
Groping in the dark . . .
Groping with intensity that comes from feeling our goal is near.
Listening . . .
Listening to a voice . . .
Listening with the realization that without this voice we cannot reach our goal.

Doing . . .
Doing what the voice has said . . .
Doing it with the last ounce of strength left in our souls.
Opening . . .
Opening the door . . .
Opening the door to Enlightenment.

Let There Be Light . . .

Genesis 1:1

Neal Stevens

A luminous moon,
the wind in the pine,

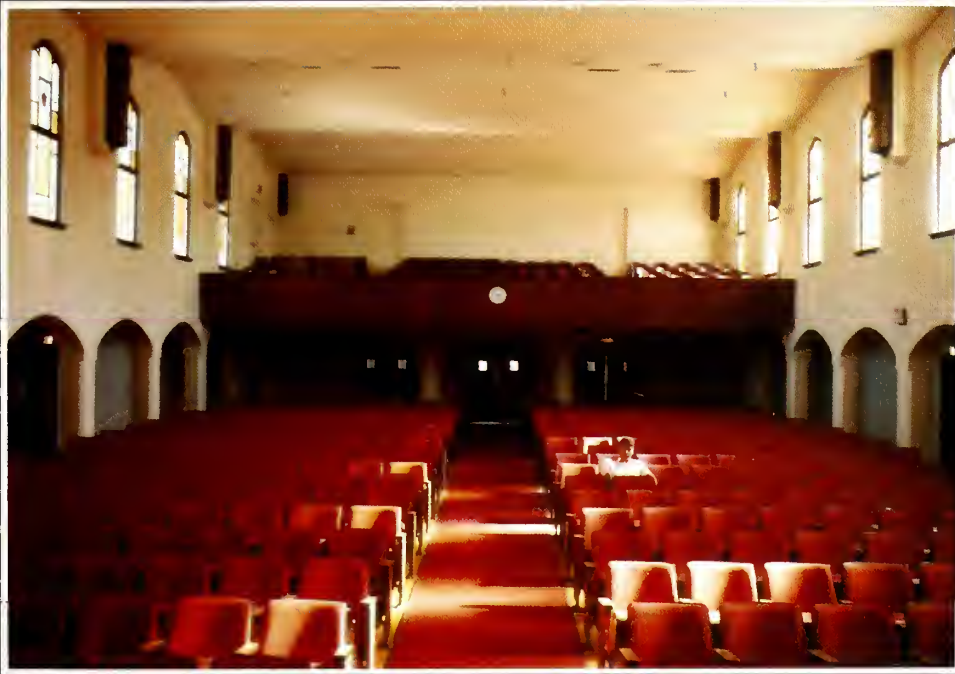

A long evening,
a transcendent view:

But what is the meaning of this?

What is the meaning of life?
Gennosuke Kuniyoshi

Fall 1984

I sit alone
but I stand amidst a tumult of emotions
tension that drains me
but I am not my emotions
My body, my mind is debilitated
but my Self is strong
My shell is cursed but inside is a melody
Silent Running

"I do not know what love is." I said to my friend.
 My friend said nothing —
 "I am searching for the answer, would you help me."
 My friend smiled —

Upon seeing my friend again I explained that I was frustrated and disappointed from our previous encounter.
 "I know that you know the answer." I demanded.
 My friend looked directly into my eyes and boxed my ears.
 I screamed, I held my ears. I cried. Finally the pain subsided.
 "Why?"
 My friend smiled —

Tony Shepperd

"What is it! Please tell me!" I pleaded vainly. For my friend only save me a much more radiant smile. I was frustrated. I did not want a happy smile. I needed an answer.
 Continuing to smile my friend rose and left. I did not understand.

I now understand. When my friend boxed my ears I was in pain. It made sense to me. I expected an answer from my friend but I was too occupied with my search that I could not enjoy the smiles my friend gave me.
 I was astounded. Love is not an expectation, an answer, a theory — Love is.
 I smiled and hugged my friend.

Gennosuke Kuniyoshi
 Fall 1984

The empty silence of sounding church bells. The muted colors of brilliantly lit stained glass — An enshrouded door of light. Opening the door the light enveloped me — The formless church dissipated. If I hold the light it will also dissipate.

MY LAMP

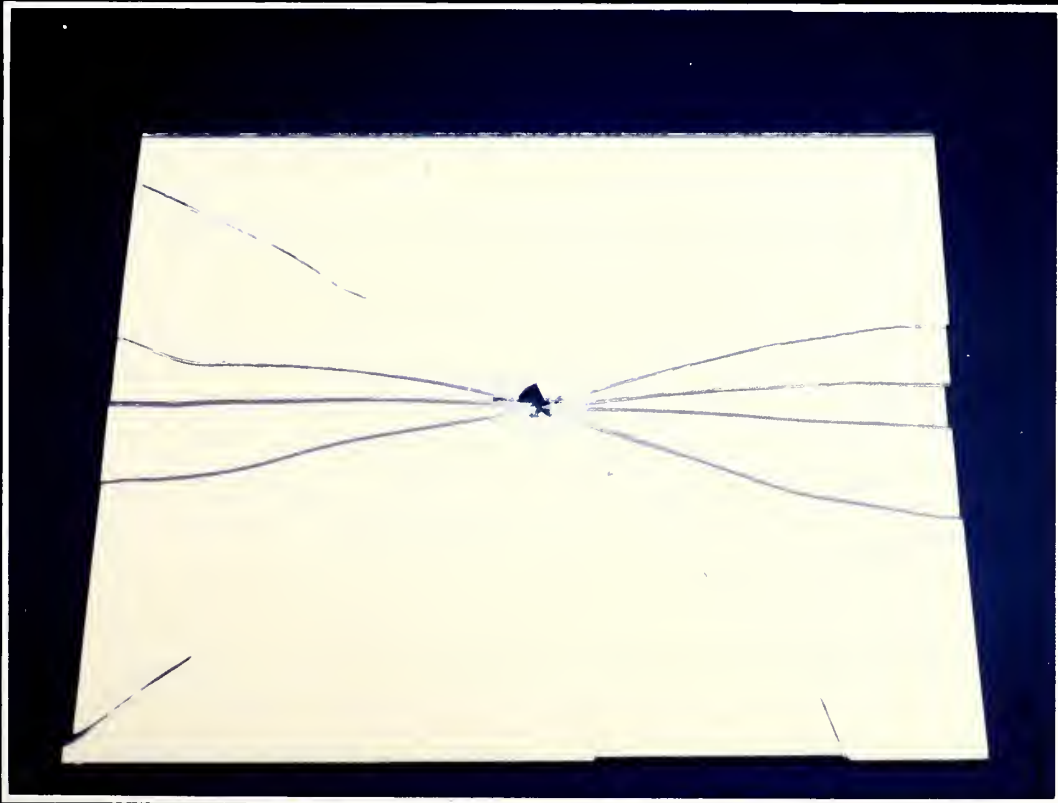

In this light, everything is different
In this sober light, I am different
Through this curtain of tears, I am here
In this simple light, it is still
In my head, I am tired
In this light, are ghostly images
In this light, are no parasites
In this light, my heart is heavy
In this light, my soul rests
In this light, it is so very quiet
In this light, it can be very peaceful
In this light, all is right

Silent Running
Fall 1984

Jay Williams

Images of broken light
Which dance before me like a million eyes.
The flame rises at the sulfur's instigation.
The candle flickers only slightly.
Upward dances the trail of warmth.
It pierces its perceiving clean blaze.
The smoke mingles and merges with the fragrance of jasmine.
Frankincense, that is, incense to be sincere with.
The fire sings the stray tendrils of hair
That invade its domain.
This pungent ambience permeates my little cubicle;
It is my cell, my womb.
Four walls form my outer periphery.
A desk, a bureau, a bottom bunk bed,
These are my physical parameters.
I feel free, I feel comfort, I feel sacred
Here in my consecrated receptacle.

Jay Williams

In shallow men, the fish of little thoughts cause much commotion.
In oceanic minds, the whales of inspiration create hardly a ripple.
Rhythm. Fluid rhythm. Rhythm that flows.
The water, sister of Fecundity, rises and falls.
The salt, the spray cleanses.
This brisk alacrity strips my dirty, worn layers away.
The body so strong, so deep,
It lends itself to sundry protean forms.
The turbulence evoked on the surface
Is imperceptible beneath.
Inward, underneath,
Down into the aquatic,
Immersed in stability.
It is dark,
It is immutable,
Almost immortal.

Neal Stevens

Jay Williams

The river flows tranquilly on,
And the flowers are red.
Now, before me,
the dead trees come alive.
I embrace and cherish the silence.
My senses are withdrawn, my actions mitigated.
The tumult of my mind is stilled.
I cease my battle with emotion.
Within my head I still hear undulation;
I still see light on the curtains of my eyelids.
At last, I center myself.
I do nothing. There is nothing to be done, really,
In petty trivialities.
Nurturing contemplation is luxurious and edifying.
Life is just a game.
It is all a game.
I may play it well, but after the chess pieces
are stored away in the box,
Reality is ever-present.
Because Reality is.
You are. I am.
Peace be with you.

PRESIDENTS' MESSAGE

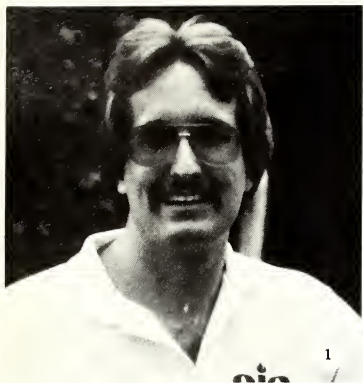

When Bob first told me that this page was reserved for me, I was quite excited. I hoped that I would be able to think of something enlightening or profound to say. With this thought in mind, my quest began. After diligently searching, my quest was completed in the knowledge that what this page needed to express was my sincere thanks to everyone who made this year great!

The first person I want to thank is Bob for his volunteering (after my begging and pleading) to shoulder the burden of making this yearbook a success. Without JoAnn constantly looking after our financial resources we never would have been able to stay as close to our budget as we did. After seeing all the late hours Pete and his staff put into the Criterion, it is no wonder it looked so good this year. This year's Senate under the direction of William took on many issues. T.V.s', shorts and a fund raiser for Ethiopia are just a few issues that first come to mind. I'm sure many freshmen this year appreciated the help that Rachel and Donna provided as this year's Student Services' co-directors. Dale provided us with many hours of fun this year as our Social Activities Director. Doug was the unknown source of all the films that we enjoyed. The dedication that Charles showed to his work as Campus Ministries Director was a source of motivation to many, myself included. Gaelyn filled our P.R. needs and made sure that the year's activities were well publicized. Murphy's Law had a field day with this year's Classified but Jose finally triumphed with a publication appreciated by all.

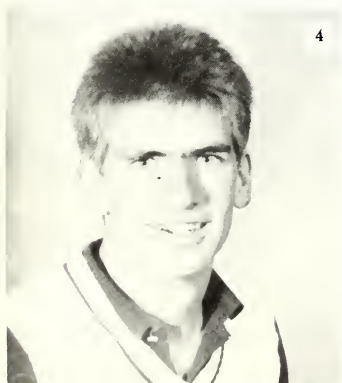

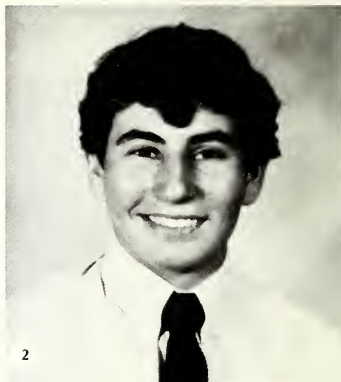

On the surface this list may seem large. In reality, however, it is just the tip of the iceberg. After all, each and everyone here this year had a part in making this year a success.

Thanks for making this year great!

EDITOR

Being editor of this year's yearbook, I have often been asked, why? After all there are quite a few more things that I could do with my evenings besides staying up for days on end and ruining my already ailing g.p.a. Well, on these two pages you will find my reasons.

To begin with, being editor brings on many responsibilities. Responsibilities to Faculty, Administration, but most important to you my fellow students. This is probably the main reason I chose the theme enlightenment.

Enlightenment is very necessary for our growth as college students and as individuals. It begins with questioning. Questioning is good. It shows that we have the spark of inquisitiveness that is important for starting the fire of desire for knowledge. Questioning can, however, be a deterrent. We would never question just for questionings' sake, for a spark without a purpose is worthless. Once the spark is ignited, we must continue to fuel the fire. Diligent study and searching is a principle requirement. This one phase alone can make or break our attempts to become enlightened. It takes work. Lots of hard work. As experience has taught, dedication brings perseverance. And with perseverance comes success.

Success is the sweetest when attained after arduous toilsome work. We can never fully enjoy our newly started fire of knowledge unless we sit back and enjoy the glow. We rest assured in the fact that the fire burns because of the work we put into it. As with the fire, knowledge and enlightenment need to have both good fuel and hard work to keep them going.

I know as you read these pages and look at the pictures in this 1984-85 Visions that you will in some way be enlightened. I know that there is something here in these 224 pages for everyone, whether it be autographs of close friends or just the book itself, you can indeed be enlightened.

God bless each and every one of you as you continue on in life. May it hold all the nice blessings that each of you deserve.

See you all 'round the fire.

What is stress? This book is stress. It is the culmination of endless deadlines and all-nighters that were all too common. Working with Bob, Jay, and Margaret was much too time consuming but always fun! Enjoying their company was an enlightening experience in itself. I am thankful for Al Johnson being able to find humor in my seemingly dismal situation and Alan Collins for his understanding and sustaining encouragement. I especially want to thank my friends (you know who you are, you'd better know who you are!) for making this year bearable. Without you all would lose meaning.

For all of us, enlightenment is either harsh or pleasant. And for whatever reasons or circumstances we all benefit from it. I was enlightened this year and learned much. The majority of my lessons were unpleasant but this is all a part of being caught in reality's net. Remember, if enlightenment be sweet then let all eat candy, but if it is painful, then let all feel pain.

SPORTS EDITOR

I volunteered to work on the yearbook at the beginning of this year not realizing that as the year progressed I would become the sports editor. Now that I look back the whole experience was great. While working on the yearbook I learned a few important things. First, I learned how helpful and healthful participation in the intramural program is at La Sierra. Helpful in the sense that I made good friends and learned how to compete with those friends. Healthful in that it gave me a time out from studying, which is needed by every student. Another thing I learned was how friendships grow by being placed in stressful situations. I want to thank all my friends for giving me support when I needed it and help when there was no one around. I have truly been enlightened by my experience of working on the yearbook. I hope you, the student body, have also been enlightened by this year's Visions.
